

Curriculum Vitae

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Name GIOVANNI B. ANDREOZZI

E-mail gianni.andreozzi@uniroma1.it

Nationality Italian

WORK EXPERIENCE

- November 2000 – present

University of Rome "La Sapienza", Faculty of Mathematical, Physical and Natural Sciences, Department of Earth Sciences

Position held: Associate Professor - permanent position

Main activities and responsibilities:

-Coordinator of the Ph.D. course in Earth Sciences

-Teacher of Mineralogy for Natural Sciences, Environmental Sciences, Geological Sciences and Chemistry courses (B.S. and M.S.)

-Active researcher in Mineral and Material Sciences (more than 60 papers and 70 proceedings)

-Supervisor of Ph.D., Master and B.S. graduation theses

-Responsible for the Gamma-ray Spectroscopy (Mössbauer) laboratory

-Responsible for the Experimental Mineralogy laboratory

-Former member of the Department executive board

-Former member of the Evaluation Committee of research projects, Sapienza University

-Expert evaluator, UE-FP7 PEOPLE, Marie-Curie call, Environment panel

-Reviewer for several international journals (American Mineralogist, Physics and Chemistry of Minerals, European Journal of Mineralogy, etc.)

EDUCATION AND TRAINING

- January 2005 – May 2005

University of Rome "La Sapienza", CIRPS (Centre for sustainable development)

Title of qualification awarded:

Evaluator of European Projects for Energy and Environment

- August 1997 – October 2000

Post-Doc experiences at the Swedish Museum of Natural History, Department of Mineralogy, and at the University of Padova, Department of Mineralogy and Petrology

- November 1993- July 1997

University of Rome "La Sapienza", Faculty of Mathematical, Physical and Natural Sciences

Title of qualification awarded: Ph.D. in Earth Sciences

PERSONAL SKILLS AND COMPETENCES

English: excellent

French: very good